

Introducing
EASTERN
ORTHODOX THEOLOGY

ANDREW LOUTH

'This is an exceptional introduction to Orthodoxy. Instead of presenting a summary of church history, teachings and practices, Andrew Louth grounds his account of the Church and her theology in the encounter with God in liturgy and prayer, expounding historical controversies and theological themes as they arise out of that encounter. The result is both personal and profound, inviting readers to explore and experience for themselves the mystery of God in Christ.'

John Behr, Dean and Professor of Patristics, St Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary, New York

'Andrew Louth has produced a humane, wise and very accessible introduction to the teaching and practice of Eastern Orthodoxy. He explains difficult doctrines in such a way that they make sense, and places a particular emphasis on prayer and worship. This is a truly excellent introduction, full of memorable passages, and ideal for anyone who has wondered about Orthodoxy and wishes to have its main features explained.'

Averil Cameron, DBE, FBA, Professor of Late Antique and Byzantine History University of Oxford

'Andrew Louth brings a lifetime of superior patristic scholarship to this volume, but casts aside all the usual academic cares to offer us a direct, personal vision of Orthodoxy as he knows and loves it. Central to the endeavour is the crucible of prayer: this is the touchstone for everything he wants to commend in the tradition he has embraced as his own.'

Sarah Coakley, Norris-Hulse Professor of Divinity, University of Cambridge

'This is a charming, readable and accessible book. Louth delivers with delightful clarity a genuine sense of how deep and rich are the traditional resources for thinking about aspects of Christian belief, and how the Eastern Orthodox tradition draws on the sacramental rites and regular prayer practices of generations of believers, and on the wealth of patristic philosophy.'

Catherine Rowett, Professor of Philosophy, University of East Anglia

'This personal presentation draws readers into a theology earthed in material reality and informed by liturgy which reflects the worship of heaven. Introductory and readable, it is illuminating for those already acquainted with the subject, and for non-Orthodox Christians it will facilitate an encounter with the depths of this "other" tradition from which they will return with enriched understanding of their own.'

Frances Young, OBE, FBA, Emeritus Professor of Theology, University of Birmingham

ISBN 978-0-281-06965-1

9 780281 069651

www.spckpublishing.co.uk

Cover design by Sarah Smith
Cover image: Saint John in Silence, Ioann Bogoslow, Russian icon, 19th century/Temple Gallery, London.
Used with kind permission.